Public Sites

PublicDomainPictures.net has hundreds of thousands of free stock photos. Though no account is required, you must have an account to download certain premium photos.

Picjumbo has thousands of free stock photos and also offers a premium subscription that gives you access to even more photos.

Pexels provides hundreds of thousands of high-quality free stock photos and adds new photos every day.

Pixabay offers more than 1.6 million royalty free stock photos and videos. There is an option to download images at different sizes. Beware that the first row of photos are sponsored images and will take you to Shutterstock. These are not free.

Stocksnap.io offers more than 5,000 high-quality free images. Please note: The first rows of photos are sponsored images and will take you to Shutterstock. Sponsored images also appear next to a photo when you click on it. These are not free.

Unsplash has a library of more than 550,000 free high-resolution photos submitted by photographers.

Where to find paid for image resources?

You can of course purchase stock photos for a minimal fee. You just need to be sure that you retain proof of purchase. Some resources are listed below.
